Processing Information

Bert Hansen uses a database to manage his extensive holdings and items in this collection are listed as they appeared in Hansen's database. As a result, items may consist of a single image, an article with multiple images, a complete issue of a publication, a single piece of ephemera, or multiple pieces of ephemera. Multiple items from one issue of a publication may be individually listed. Data and descriptions from Hansen's database have been edited to create item scope and content notes in this finding aid. These notes may include name of artist, description of images, author, historical context, details about printing processes, and related materials. Notes may also include Hansen's database identification numbers, which may point researchers to related materials in the collection.

Related Materials

Related materials may be found in Pam Coll 7 Comic book collection on medical themes and Pam Coll 8 William Helfand collection of medical ephemera held by the Medical Historical Library, Harvey Cushing / John Hay Whitney Medical Library, Yale University.

Biographical / Historical

Bert Hansen was born on February 5, 1944 in Chicago, Illinois. He received a bachelor's degree in chemistry from Columbia College in 1965 and a doctorate in the history of science from Princeton University in 1974. In 1978 he received a Mellon Fellowship at Harvard University and taught medical history courses there until 1979. Hansen held academic appointments at State University of New York at Binghamton; the University of Toronto; New York University; and Baruch College, City University of New York. His work focused on the natural sciences and magic in the middle ages; medical history in the nineteenth century, including the development of medical education, the work of Louis Pasteur, and diagnosing homosexuality; and popular culture perceptions and representations of medicine from the 19th through 21st centuries. Hansen's writings include numerous journal articles and book chapters and full-length publications Nicole Oresme and the Marvels of Nature: A Study of His De Causis Mirabilium and Picturing Medical Progress from Pasteur to Polio: A History of Mass Media Images and Popular Attitudes in America. Hansen is a prolific collector of publications, memorabilia, and artifacts related to his interests in medical history and mass media. In 2015, Hansen retired from Baruch College. He continues to write, collect, and present at academic conferences.

Scope and Contents

The Bert Hansen Collection of Medicine and Public Health in Popular Graphic Art comprises material collected over a period of thirty years by medical historian Bert Hansen to document the visual representation of medical practice and research and public health in the United States. The contents of this collection are materials produced for the general public (not medical and public health professionals) from the mid-19th through the early 21st centuries. Hansen collected popular publications containing stories about medicine and medical practitioners or containing satirical illustrations using medical imagery, and ephemera with medical themes including prints, film publicity materials, posters, calendars, and brochures for medical devices. The bulk of materials in the collection were produced in the United States between 1850 and 2010. Series I. Early publications includes German and French materials, Series III. Ephemera includes French and Canadian materials, and Series IV. Reference copies may include copies of publications from other countries.

Arrangement

The collection is arranged in four series: Series I. Early publications, 1850-1927. Series II. Later publications, 1920-2010. Series III. Ephemera, 1894-2008. Series IV. Reference copies, 1850-2007. The collection is further arranged by publication title, item title, and date. Much of the material is housed in archival folders of varying dimensions annotated by collection creator Bert Hansen. As a result, box and folder numbers are often non-sequential within series and sub-series.

Collection Contents

Series I: Early Publications, 1850–1927

This series includes partial and complete issues of numerous 19th and early 20th century periodical publications including Chic, Frank Leslie's Illustrated Newspaper, Harper's Monthly, Harper's Weekly, Life, McClure's, Judge, Puck, and Scientific American. Items in this series include articles and illustrations about medical developments, medical practitioners, and public health and satirical illustrations using medical imagery. Topics include Pasteur's treatments for rabies, cholera, diphtheria, polio, tuberculosis, vaccinations, hospitals, mental asylums, adulterated and unsafe foodstuffs, and public sanitation. Most images in the series are chromolithographs and wood engravings.

Items in this series may be viewed in the Yale University Library Digital Collections <https://collections.library.yale.edu/>

This series is arranged by title of publication and date. Materials are housed in folders as received from Hansen.

	Chic	1880–1881
b. 1, f. 1	"The President-Elect fruitlessly endeavors to escape from the Yum-Yum Office Seeker's, as well as from the Doctor Mary Walker Brigade. Enter Mrs. Garfield.--Tableau." Chic (1:10), page 16, back cover. Cartoon similar to early Puck and Judge. Image shows nice women in fancy hats and narrow waisted dresses protecting Garfield, standing up on a bureau, perhaps in a boarding house. A lady (in a long housecoat?) with broom and whisk broom stands in the open door apparently to remove a group of ugly women in pants, one of whom carries a sign reading "Gen. Mary Walker's Brigade of Office Seekers. Susan Anthony Lt. Col." Printed in pink, blue, and black ink. Hansen database #4393.	1880 November 17
b. 1, f. 2	"The American Colossus." Chic, page 8-9, centerfold. Color cartoon, similar to Puck and Judge. This image by Kendrick has a large bearded man straddling USA-Mexico border. He holds a string tied to a ship in the Nicaragua ship canal, and has railroad bond and mining shares in his pocket as well as "captain General pay" in his waistband. He smokes a cigar. Half his dress is a military uniform, the other half is Mexican style. This figure also appears in #4387. Hansen database #4386.	1880

b. 1, f. 3	"Young Democracy." Chic (1:18), page 42006, front cover, color. Very rare midwife image. "Young Democracy, Born at Cooper Institute, Tuesday, December 28, 1880. Monthly Nurse.--"Faix but yer a wake little crayture, all as wan as yer dead Mother. There's no sign av thrivin' about ye, at all, at all." In a windowless garret or basement, we see a dead donkey in bed to the left with this nurse holding the baby donkey, giving it a worried, cross-eyed look. Among the medications lying around: Develin plaster, Hancock powder, Bennett boodle, Hewitt's glue, Sun cholera mixture, Tilden Barl-y (sic) sugar. The nurse wears a checkered apron, a white bonnet or kerchief, stockings, and house slippers. Page 2 masthead is dated January 11, 1881, a day earlier than the cover date. "Published every Tuesday." No editorial on the cover, but there is a relevant 16-line verse about it, mentioning John Kelly, Irving, Tammany, and Hewitt. "Monthly nurse" was apparently a common term, often used in classified ads for women seeking positions. Seemingly this distinguished it from a children's nurse and graduate nurses were yet very uncommon. While not slovenly like Sairy Gamp, this figure carries no image of skill or professionalism. Hansen database #4397.	1881 January 12
b. 1, f. 4	"Coming Events Cast Their Shadows Before. Chic introduces her very juvenile and promising friend 1881 to the United States." Chic , page 8-9, centerfold. Color cartoon, similar to Puck and Judge. This is a new year's print with father time pushing an old 1880 away in front of a parade of figures led by a young 1881. Among the figures is the man in Mexican clothing from #4386, a man carrying an obelisk, a man carrying the Whitehouse (Garfield?), a man carrying a boat ("City of Rome, To Europe in Five Days"), and people carrying banners including Panama Canal, World's Fair, Hudson River Tunnel, St. Louis Census 600,000. In this image, the shadows are behind all the figures, not in front of them. Hansen database #4387.	Circa 1881
	Daily Graphic (New York)	1873-1884
f. oversize 1	"The Spectre In Our Streets. (Respectfully Dedicated to the Street-Cleaning Bureau.)" Daily Graphic (New York) (1:36), cover of complete issue. Shows skeleton and children playing in waste. Hansen database #2184.	1873 April 14
f. oversize 2	"Graphic Statues, No. 10--The Chairman at the Medico-Legal Dinner." Daily Graphic (New York) (1:40), cover of complete issue. Artist is Th. Wust. Hansen database #2185.	1873 April 18
f. oversize 3	"Mayor Havemeyer Disciplining the Aldermanic Monster." Daily Graphic (New York) (1:59), cover. Full-page drawing shows mayor, wielding a club and holding an edict of two committees, and creature with seven dog heads (Cerberus?). Tax Committee has John Wheeler, Geo. W. Andrews, and D. Moulton; Health Committee has Chas. F. Chandler, Dr. Stephen Smith, and Henry Claussen. Hansen database #59.	1873 May 10
f. oversize 4	"A Proper Reception For King Cholera." Daily Graphic (New York) (1:98), cover of a complete 8-page issue. Drawn by Wust. Mentions cities Nashville, Cincinnati, Pittsburgh, Washington, and Philadelphia. Wall behind men carries this text "Telegraphic Despatches. March of the Cholera. In Memphis, 59 deaths; Nashville 40, Cincinnati 10, Pittsburgh 5, Washington 3, Philadelphia 1." Hansen database #2186.	1873 June 25

f. oversize 5	"A Cartoon on the Half-Holiday Question." Daily Graphic (New York) (2:104), cover. Full-page drawing by Bellew. Manufacturer gives his race horses a rest, but not his factory workers. Bucolic scene, with small inset of several women and one child at work in a factory. Hansen database #60.	1873 July 2
f. oversize 6	"The Great Battle Between the Board of Health and the Marketmen." Daily Graphic (New York), page 196. Upper portion of page, shows battlefield with Board of Health vs. market men. Hansen database #61.	1873 July 29
f. oversize 7	"The Flood Catastrophe." Daily Graphic (New York) (4:374), cover of complete issue. Cover is picture of people and animals being swept away; story is about Mill River Valley flood caused by collapsed dam. Hansen database #4385.	1874 May 18
f. oversize 8	"Liberty Enlightening the World." Daily Graphic (New York), page 904. Bird's-eye view of the proposed statue showing great beams of light emitted by her crown, with harbor and land masses in the background. Note this is years before she is finished. Image is quarter-page or less, on a page mostly of display and classified ads. Hansen database #3158.	1875 October 26
f. oversize 9	"The Clinic." Daily Graphic (New York) (19:1858), page 56 of complete issue. Sketch of Eakins's painting of the Gross Clinic, one of a group of images from an art show. Captioned "The Clinic--Thomas Eakins." Story is "Pictures of the Day." Page 54 "Pictures of the Day" text reads "On pages 56 and 57 we produce copies of the most notable pictures in the second annual exhibition of the Society of American Artists, which opens today at the Kurtz Gallery (6 East 23rd St., New York City). These drawings and sketches will afford our numerous readers throughout the country an opportunity to make themselves familiar with the progress of art in America...." No artists named in article. Hansen database #4010.	1879 March 8
f. oversize 10	"I Will Take Care of the Animals; Humanity Must Care for Itself." Daily Graphic (New York) (23:2293), front cover of complete issue. Vertically split image of Bergh crying over bullfight on the left, but on the right sternly evicting a poor working man (shoemaker) with wife and child from building owned by his Society. Artist not named, drawing signed only "C." Page 243 picture, news style, is of "the sham bull fight" of prior week. Editorial on page 240 makes clear that's what Bergh protested. Hansen database #3566.	1880 August 3
f. oversize 11	"The Paths of Pestilence, Fire and Murder in New York City." Daily Graphic (New York) (24:2463), page 841 in complete issue. Full page display of 3 maps of Manhattan showing (with black dots) the locations of small pox cases (prior 7 weeks!), fires (over $500 loss), and murders in 1880, with the text running between the maps. The front cover cartoon shows Uncle Sam politely refusing to help an Irishman and sending him instead to Mr. Gladstone. Hansen database #3017.	1881 February 21
f. oversize 12	"Cartoons on Current Topics: Walton's Woes." Daily Graphic (New York) (29:2891), front cover of complete issue. Cover has four "Cartoons on Current Topics" of which lower left is about burden of cleaning the streets, referring to Mr. Walton. Page 75 has illustration of Russian Jews in Hamburg Coming to America. Hansen database #62.	1882 July 13

f. oversize 13	"Abolish the Tax on Tobacco." Daily Graphic (New York) (30:3015), front cover. Implies problems will get worse if tax abolished. Includes pipe bowl as a skull; gravestone with "Smokers Take Warning"; man confined with straitjacket in asylum. Artist is Steele (first initial unclear, middle initial is probably O). Related editorial on page 248 in Pictures of the Day." Column 2 of page 248 contains one paragraph untitled article about a Philadelphia newspaper helping to catch 3 grave robbers. Hansen database #3327.	1882 December 6
f. oversize 14	"The Brutal Bigotry and Intolerance of Republicanism." Daily Graphic (New York) (34:3417), front cover. Full-page editorial cartoon by F. J. Willson, showing a boorish, fat Republican wearing a blindfold labeled "bigotry," dismissing General Sherman, whose wife is a Roman Catholic. "No! You may be a gallant soldier, you may possess culture and capacity, you may be honest --but your wife is a Roman Catholic!" An example of Willson's style and of the graphic presentation of prejudices in that era. The boorish guy resembles the caricatures of working-class Irish, usually associated with the Democratic party. Hansen database #4501	1884 March 27
f. oversize 15	"On the Wrong Side of the Herd." Daily Graphic (New York) (34:3469), front cover. Full-page editorial cartoon by Miranda, showing Chester A. Arthur being thrown off his horse in front of a herd of cattle labeled Blaine delegates. Hansen database #4500	1884 May 27
f. oversize 16	"The Opening of the New German Dispensary, No 137 Second Avenue, Last Saturday." Daily Graphic (New York) (35:3469), page 649. Exterior and interior images together on upper right quadrant of page. Hansen database #4444.	1884 May 27
f. oversize 17	"The Hydrophobia Cure--The Experiments by M. Pasteur." Daily Graphic (New York) (34:3485), page 803. Three-part illustration on the upper half of page, with a column of unrelated text on either side. The main caption includes "from L'Illustration." Illustrations are "Cage for inoculated dogs," "Effect of inoculation" showing a monkey in a cage, and "M. Pasteur in his Laboratory" showing Pasteur between two rows of rabbit cages. Hansen database #4398.	1884 June 16
f. oversize 18	"Appropriate to the Season." Daily Graphic (New York) (34:3493), front cover. Full-page editorial cartoon by Miranda, showing well-off families leaving on vacation, luggage labeled Saratoga, Newport, and Europe, with a young girl giving money to a nun collecting for the poor. An example of Miranda's style and of sympathetic presentation of religious charity. This era has plenty of anti-Catholic cartoons, often mocking donations to the church as going for corruption or terrorism. Since the Daily Graphic cover of March 27, 1884, by F. J. Willson (here #4501) is critical of anti-Catholic bias, it suggests that Daily Graphic might have been particularly sensitive on this issue and sympathetic to Roman Catholicism. Hansen database #4498	1884 June 25
f. oversize 19	"Castle Garden as a Matrimonial Market." Daily Graphic (New York) (34:3494), front cover. Full-page editorial cartoon by Miranda, showing male-female couples deliberating or negotiating, neutrally shown, without tension among the characters. An example of Miranda's style and of sympathetic presentation of new immigrants. Hansen database #4499	1884 June 26

Gillam supporting Republic Convention's stand for protective tariff, supported by capital, labor, GAR, farmer, and manufacture. From working man to English factories. Hansen database #414.	1888 June 30
b. 6, f. 6	"The Democratic Drug Store. Uncle Sam 'I'm not going to take that stuff-- that patent Medicine has been denounced and exposed by the whole American people. Hereafter I will get my prescriptions across the way'." Judge (15:370), page 90-91, center. By Hamilton, shows Uncle Sam refusing a patent medicine. This is just after the Harrison win. Harrison's store is across the street, visible through the window. Hansen database #2038.	1888 November 1
b. 6, f. 7	"Looking Forward to 1892." Judge (15:373), front cover. By Hamilton, Cleveland as a banged up and bandaged elephant being looked at by Hill in clown garb. Lots of medicines visible, but no thermometer. Hansen database #36.	1888 December 8
f. oversize 23	"His First Batch Of Patients." Judge (15:387), page 376-377, center. By Hamilton, it's B. Harrison, M. D., U. S. Physician. Hansen database #955.	1889 March 16
f. oversize 24	"Hopeless Cases. Doctor Brown-Sequard Randall. Take Them Away. They're Too Dead for Treatment." Judge (16:411), page 336-337. By Grant Hamilton, note the masthead is Judge, not The Judge. On the left side, Dr. Brown-Sequard Randall sits in an upholstered green wing chair, holding a bottle of fluid in left hand and a large syringe with hollow needle in his right. The needle is curved at the end,	1889 August 31

with its hole on the side just where the curve starts, the syringe is a simple piston. The Brown-Séquard figure is Samuel Jackson Randall, a Democratic congressman from Pennsylvania, who had lost President Cleveland's favor two years earlier. He had been a protectionist since the 1860s despite that position's being unpopular in his party. He is now well supplied with two large tanks of "Protectionism" as an "Elixir of Life." But it's too late, he says, for this rejuvenation juice to revive the Democratic Party and its debilitated Free Trade policy. The central figures are Charles A. Dana (with a tag to identify him as owner-editor of the New York Sun) and Joseph Pulitzer (proprietor of the New York World, apparently recognizable without a label), who have brought a tiger (the Democratic Party, see tag on the tail) in for Doctor Randall's protectionism treatment. At the right, "Free Trade" is being carried in by two men coming from the U.S. Capitol, visible behind them in the doorway: Roger Quarles Mills, Congressman (later Senator) from Texas, and Henry Watterson, editor of the Louisville Courier-Journal. Watterson, not "Waterson" (Is the mis-spelling a further joke on this fellow editor?) was an aggressive advocate of free-trade ideas. By chance, Randall died at age 62 in April 1890, less than a year after this cartoon appeared. Sequard appears several times in caption and on the inside, but never with an accent. June (and early July?) issues seem to have several verbal quips about doctors mistakenly thinking a man dead and wanting to bury him. Hansen database #2049.

b. 6, f. 8	"An Unwelcome Visitor" Judge (17:431), page 235, front cover. Hamilton, "La Grippe--'Good-bye; I've had a splendid reception. Uncle Sam-- 'Don't come again.'" b. 13, f. 6	"Visiting Day at the Hospital. After the Painting by Geoffroy in the Paris Salon of 1889." Harper's Young People Supplement . Signed in the plate Geoffroy (on left) and Beaudé or perhaps Meaulle, as engraver (on the right). Separate double page, slightly glossy, folded like centerfold, but without printing on the back. Hansen database #3341	1889 July 23
f. oversize 71	"Dealing with Hydrophobia: M. Pasteur's Answer to American Inquiries on the Subject" Harrisburg (Pennsylvania) Independent , page 1 of complete issue. "Hydrophobic Hospitals for All Countries Ably Discussed. Their Establishment Impossible." Article opens with mention of the Newark Children, based on cable to the New York Herald, two columns. Hansen database #3157.	1886 January 2
b. 13, f. 7	"Pasteur -- The Famous French Chemist, One of the World's Practical Benefactors." The Household (28:11), page 11, in a complete issue. Article with photograph leads with Pasteur treatment for rabies, also mentions spontaneous generation and germ theory. Draws on a sketch in the New York Tribune . In closing: "We shall do well to keep in mind Pasteur's saying: 'It is in the power of man to cause all parasitic maladies to disappear from the world.' This is his best epitaph; for the world owes all that may come of the 'germ theory' in the future to Louis Pasteur." Magazine was established 1868 in Boston, Massachusetts, and still published there, the paper's masthead states it is devoted to the interests of the American housewife. Hansen database #3343	1895 November
b. 13, f. 8	"Institution Life: I. Foundling Asylum." Illustrated American , page 308-310. Article about the Foundling Asylum of the Sisters of Charity by Herbert W. Burdett, with eleven illustrations, apparently first in a series on Institution Life. Illustrations include the reception cot, wards, and "nurse-mothers." Some images are drawn, some appear to be retouched photographs, Hansen database #3958	1890 May 17
b. 1, f. 21	"Hydrophobia and Its Treatment." Illustrated American (3:23), page 6-9, in complete issue. Four-page article with four great photographs of the New York Pasteur Institute. This is a very early set of photographs as prior magazine images had been engravings, includes unusual photograph of a lab worker dissecting the brain of a rabid dog. Hansen database #4320	1890 July 26
b. 13, f. 9	"The Funeral of the French Scientist Pasteur." Illustrated American , page 589, in a complete issue. Published in New York. One-page article with 7 photographs and illustrations. b. 13, f. 12	"Their Majesties and the Light Cure: King Edward and Queen Alexandra Visiting Patients in the Finsen Light Room at the London Hospital." Illustrated London News, center, page 950-951. Drawn by A. Forestier, caption notes the royals visited on June 11 to open a new wing and a new Finsen Light Room. "Of the Danish physician's method of curing lupus, the Queen is the patron and pioneer in England. Her majesty presented the first lamp to the London Hospital in 1900." Two aspects of interest are Finsen Light's popularity at the time and a further transformation of the long tradition of the royal touch. Here it's their patronage of science and their funding that does the healing, but it's still their touch. Is this a change from or a continuity with royalty's appearances at cholera hospitals, where there was little therapy, beyond calming down a frightened public by gestures like these? Also see Image #1939. Hansen database #147.	1903 June 20
b. 1, f. 22	"Gardien de sa Propre Statue." L'illustration: Journal Universel Hebdomadaire (71:3688), front cover of complete issue. Full page photograph (8.5 x 11 inches) of Jean-Baptiste Jupille in uniform next to a sculpture in the garden of the Pasteur Institute. Sculpture created by Émile Louis Truffot in 1887 depicts Pasteur fighting off a rabid dog. Jupille was the second person Pasteur treated for rabies in 1885 (Joseph Meister was the first) and became an employee of the Pasteur Institute as a guard or concierge. This copy of the issue has 16 pages in front and in back of additional advertising material. A story on the building of the Panama Canal has some unusual early color photographs. Hansen database #4454	1913 November 1
b. 13, f. 13	"Pasteur's Work." Le Journal Illustré (21:13), page 100-101, in a complete issue. Double-page center spread of five scenes, including Pasteur walking among dog cages, and monkey in a cage, entitled "Les travaux scientifiques de M. Pasteur. Experiences sur la rage chez les animaux." Text on page 99 and 102. Hansen database #2914	1884 March 30
b. 13, f. 14	"Le domaine de Villeneuve-l'Étang." Le Journal Illustré (21:50), page 400, back of complete issue. 10" x 8" print of the country house where animal experiments were carried on by Pasteur. Text on page 398 as well. This newspaper is 15" x 11" and has 8 pages, 4 with large graphic woodcut engravings and 4 with text. Hansen database #3735	1884 December 14
b. 13, f. 15	"Her Majesty Visiting the Wards at the London Hospital." London Graphic, Supplement. Full-page illustration. Artist G. Durand. Hansen database #1911.	1876 March 11
b. 13, f. 16	"Hospital Sunday--Re-Opening of the Victoria Hospital for Sick Children, Chelsea, by HRH The Princess Louise." London Graphic, page 601. Hansen database #2192.	1876 June 17
b. 13, f. 17	"Vaccination from the Calf." London Graphic (27:685), page 37, in complete issue. Two sketches, text on page 34. Taking lymph from the calf and Vaccinating infants. This is Fig. 1, inset in upper left corner of Fig. 2 (upper sketch). Fig. 1 shows the peculiar pattern of punctures so that there will remain evidence that this was lymph from the calf, rather than humanized lymph. Brief text also notes the lack of any suffering on the animal's part, saying it often sleeps during the procedure. Hansen database #1918.	1883 January 13

b. 1, f. 23	"The Spanish Honor Cure." Merry Maker (7:9), cover of complete issue. Formatted and laid out like the contemporary Life magazine, cartoon showing Uncle Sam shooting cannon balls each labeled "pill" into the mouth of a monkey-like toreador. Uncle Sam has no stethoscope or doctor's bag, so the pills are the only medical signifier. Masthead appears on page 16. "The Merry Maker and American House and Home: A journal of Humorous Literature, published monthly by the House and Home publishing Co., 154 Nassau Street, New York City." Subscription is 50 cents a year in advance. Back cover has a story without words in six scenes. "The Rise and Progress of a Mad Dog Scare" including panicked people and a policeman shooting wildly. In the end a calm dog walks away. Signed "Phillips--Dunk." Hansen database #4450	1898 August
b. 13, f. 19	"Marseille.-- En quarantaine." Le Monde Illustré? (28:1423), front cover of a complete issue. Wife with child talking with her sailor husband who's in quarantine behind bars, by M. A. Brun. Hansen database #66	1884 July 5
f. oversize 74	Dr. Elizabeth Blackwell medical practice advertisement New York Daily Tribune (15:4521), page 1, in a complete 8-page issue. Small classified advertisement of five lines, "Dr. Elizabeth Blackwell, graduate of Geneva Medical College, pupil at the Lying-In Hospital, Paris, and student of the London Hospitals attends to every department of Medical Practice among Ladies and Children." Includes address and hours from 10 a.m. to noon. Column 1 in full page of advertisements. Hansen database #4332.	1856 February 9
f. oversize 75	"Medical Department of the New York University. Introductory Lecture of Professor Draper to the course of 1851 and '52." New York Herald (6936), pages 1-2 in complete issue. Morning edition, 4-page paper, "News by Telegraph" section. The lecture is printed in three columns on page 1 with carryover to page 2. This is John William Draper, chemist, author. Hansen database #3155.	1851 October 22

f. oversize 76	"Blindness Vanishes Before the March of Modern Science" New York Herald, Sunday edition, page 2, section 3, full page. Banner headline and large article on upper half of page, with three images of eyeballs and pictures of Dr. S. Josephine Baker and of Dr. John Herbert Claiborne. The triumphs are ophthalmia neonatorum prevention by Crede's method, shown by the great reduction in cases in New York City under new Division of Child Hygiene and trachoma. There's also much about dim light and small type; Herald gets commendation for using larger type. Hansen database #4046.	1909 December 5
b. 13, f. 20	"Vakcination hos Pasteur." Nutiden (:507) page 359. Danish magazine "The Present." Signed "drawing by Meyer, engraving by F. Meaulle." Pasteur observes vaccination/inoculation, inoculating doctor is Grancher, assistant is Viala. Image had appeared (according to Annick Perrot) in Journal Illustré? of March 28, 1886. Hansen database #1399	1886 June 6
b. 13, f. 21	"Pasteur in his laboratory." Once a Week, front cover of complete issue. Engraving (?) of Pasteur in his lab (by Edelfelt, but not so identified, nor is engraver identified), with related article on page 3 "Pasteur at Home" by Alfred I. H. Crespi. Hansen database #67	1890 October 7
b. 13, f. 22	"New York - The Pasteur Institute for Treating Persons Bitten by Dogs." Once a Week, page 12. Six vignettes in a half-page engraving, including portrait of Dr. Gibier and an inoculating scene with patient, Gibier, and two assistants. No whites except for aprons on lab dieners. Hansen database #4275	1890 November 4
b. 13, f. 23	"Dr. Koch's Discovery." Once a Week (6:12), page 11. Article with a drawing of a patient with two doctors, "Dr. Bergmann showing effect of lymph." Article reports that in New York City there are now 116 cases under experimental treatment at 9 hospitals. It lists hospitals and number of cases ranging from 4 to 29. It mentions that five physicians went to Germany for training and returned on December 22 with enough lymph for an estimated 30,000 inoculations. Hansen database #4281	1891 January 6
b. 13, f. 24	"La peste en Mandchourie." Le Petit Journal, Supplement Illustré?, page 1. Bright color cover illustration of death in red robe with scythe hovering over hordes fleeing a burning village behind them. There is text on page 58 (not in folder) on this topic as well as a longer article about plague in Europe in the past. (ca. 12 x 16 in.) During the winter of 1910 to 1911, an explosive epidemic of pneumonic plague raged in Manchuria and northern China. At the time, this region was divided into zones of influence, and each zone was controlled by a European power or Japan, all of which feared that plague would compromise their commercial interests. The Manchurian epidemic of 1910 to 1911 undoubtedly stressed an already unstable Chinese government and contributed to undermining the political integrity of the 250-year-old Qing empire, which fell the following autumn. The epidemic began in September 1910 and ended the following April. During the peak 4 months, from October through January, pneumonic plague killed more than 50,000 people. Miscellaneous Modern Publications		1925-2009
b. 41, f. 7	"Animal Torture Worthless to Science." American Weekly , page 6-7, in a complete issue. Article about vivisection by Dr. Arthur V. Allen, a retired corporate physician, strongly and sentimentally anti-vivisection. Has several images, one large image is in full color. This a Hearst paper, syndicated Sunday newspaper magazine (four-color printing on newsprint), with patriotic July 4th picnic cover, 32 pages. Hansen database #4238	1945 July 1
f. oversize 78	"Dressing the Surgeon, Past and Present, for Operations." Boston Evening Transcript , page 8. One large broadsheet page, most of which is a large illustrated article by Frederick A. Fender. An unusual subject for a daily newspaper. Four images are: photograph of top-hatted, bearded man; plague costume with large beak; caricature of group with aprons, saws, knives, etc.; and early engraving of man decorated with surgical instruments. Hansen database #3680.	1926 November 17
f. oversize 79	"Victory Against Polio! Salk's Vaccine Works." Chicago Daily News , facsimile of front page. Banner headlines with picture of vial of vaccine above the masthead. Articles in column 3 and 7-8. Vaccine does the job; 80 to 90 percent effective medical jury tells the world. Probably removed from a book as the back of this sheet has "Space Hop A Success" from May 5, 1961. Hansen database #3391.	undated
b. 32, f. 1	"This picture reunited two comrades saved by Pasteur in 1885" Child Life , page 237. Full-page advertisement, 8.5 x. 11.5 inches, from Parke Davis. With drawing of the four Newark boys on-board ship. Willy and Austin had replied to an earlier published advertisement (about the Newark boys' trip to visit Pasteur) that invited any of them to write in, and they had a reunion. One of them was also used by publicists to promote the 1935 film, "Story of Louis Pasteur." Hansen database #4402	1931 May
b. 41, f. 8	"We're fighting your enemies!" Collier's , page 55. Full-page advertisement for Budweiser discussing pasteurization process, featuring a portrait of Pasteur at the center. Hansen database #3657	1936 September 12

b. 41, f. 9	"The Next Great Plague to Go." Collier's , page 5. Advertisement by Met Life with extended text about syphilis. Nicely laid out text, but no graphic images on the page at all. Hansen database #3130	1938 January 29
b. 41, f. 10	"Artificial heart given to man, 52." The Detroit News , page A1-A2, in complete issue. With a second article on page A2 about Schroeder receiving the second Jarvik heart in Louisville. Article notes that Schroeder lived in Michigan for many years and includes a photograph of him from 20 years earlier. Paper also has big article starting on page A1 "American HERitage" about Schlesinger library with photo of Eva Moseley. Hansen database #3274	1984 November 26
b. 40, f. 4	"Why some things get better all the time." Fortune . Full-page advertisement for the Union Carbide and Carbon Corporation with two scenes, "Old Pharmacy" and "Modern Drug Store," and Louis Pasteur quotation along the top: "Without laboratories men of science are soldiers without arms." Text discusses research, developments and progress of pharmaceuticals. A different advertisement with similar layout ran in 1953. Hansen database #4292	Circa 1948
b. 40, f. 5	"Stimulation of Labor Starting from Snuff." Journal of the American Medical Association , pages 8-9. Two-page Parke-Davis advertisement for Pitocin. One full page shows the drawing of a fetus in utero from a work by David D. Davis, published in 1836. Hansen database #4483	1942 July 11
b. 41, f. 11	"The Doctor's Afraid of Doctoring." Ken , page 73. Large cartoon signed by Roir (may be Irving Roir). Tall, narrow cartoon of black ink with yellow highlights covers half the page from top to bottom; depicts the American Medical Association (AMA) as a frightened figure cowering under sheets on an operating table with the Department of Justice as the surgeon. Surgeon and assisting nurse wear masks and gloves. Ken was a left-leaning publication investigated by the House Unamerican Activities Committee. Hansen database #389	1938 October 6
b. 41, f. 12	Public health v. fat fees. Ken , page 23. Untitled cartoon, signed by Ellis (perhaps Fred Ellis). Tall, narrow cartoon of black ink with yellow highlights covering half the page from top to bottom, shows American Medical Association (AMA) as a figure in scrubs holding a pan balance in one hand. One side of the balance holds an exhausted figure labeled "public health" and the other holds a money bag labeled "fat fees." The doctor uses his other hand to tilt the balance toward "fat fees." Related story, "Physician, Heal Thyself," starts on page 22 (not included), ends on page 24, and appears to be written by a doctor. Ken was a left-leaning publication investigated by the House Unamerican Activities Committee. Hansen database #390	1938 December 1
b. 32, f. 2	"Great Moments in Medicine: Presenting the bill." Mad Magazine (1:48), back cover of complete issue. "Reproduced here, is one of a series of original oil paintings, 'Practicing Medicine for Fun and Profit,' commissioned by Park-David." Satirizes the famous series of historical paintings by Robert Thom for Parke-Davis, the pharmaceutical giant, which they used in advertisements and in reproductions given to physicians for framing. This confirms the wide popular familiarity with the series. Hansen database #4244	1959 July

f. oversize 80	"The Microbe Hunters: Chapter IV." Minneapolis Sunday Tribune , eight pages. Full-page feature on either page 3 or page 12 (pagination unclear), by Paul de Kruif, 4th installment, about Metchnikoff. It appears that they skipped two Pasteur chapters and one on Koch, but are running the rest, including Ehrlich. One photograph of Dr. M. and two drawings. Hansen database #4227.	1926 September 26
b. 32, f. 3	"No Diphtheria by 1930!" National Geographic , single page. Metropolitan Life Insurance Company advertisement. Hansen database #2890	1926
b. 41, f. 13	"The Polio Panic" Newsday , page 1, 4-5. Cover article about a 1916 outbreak of polio in the town of Oyster Bay on Long Island. Hansen database #3142	1990 September 25
b. 41, f. 14	"Anthrax Nation." New York Daily News , pages 1-7, 24. Cover headline, "Spores found in Pataki's offices, 31 exposed at U. S. Senate, House shuts down for tests, New York and Florida strains match." Cover story "31 exposed to anthrax, House shuts down" with multiple related articles. Hansen database #3275	2001 October 18
b. 40, f. 6	"Life as you've never seen it." New York Daily News , pages 35-37. Three-page color spread, "Famed Photog takes us inside the human experience," by Julian Kesner. These are digital photographs unlike his earlier ones. Photograph on page 35 is fetus appearing to suck a thumb. They all come from a new book, entitled Life , published by Harry N. Abrams at $45. This is evidence about the familiarity, popularity, and associated sensationalism of the Nilsson photos from fifty years earlier. Hansen database #4317	2006 October 11
b. 40, f. 7	"Franken-Dog: Scientists bring dead pooches back to life." New York Post , pages 1-3. Upper half of front page has huge headline and close up of a beagle's face: "Scientists at a leading university have killed dozens of dogs-- then brought them back to life." Blood is drained for up to three hours. Patrick Kochanek, director of Safar Center for Resuscitation Research at the University of Pittsburgh. Article also quotes PETA representative. Similar story appeared in New York Times Magazine of December 11, 2005. Hansen database #4159	2005 June 28

b. 40, f. 12	"Medicine's Lost Art." New York Times, advertising supplement, page 1. Promoting subscriptions to the Large Type Weekly edition, using a Eugene Smith photo as the main image at center of this page. Uses art and headlines from the article in Hansen database #4486. Evidence for continuing popularity and familiarity of Smith series from more than 50 years earlier. Hansen database #4487	2003 December 2
b. 40, f. 13	"Even if animal research resulted in a cure for AIDS, we'd be against it." New York Times Sunday Magazine, verso of back cover. Very unusual full-page advertisement against PETA and for AIDS research. Shows a hand putting a match to an AIDS ribbon with a quote from the activist Ingrid Newkirk "Even if animal research resulted in a cure for AIDS, we'd be against it." Published by Consumer Freedom.com. Hansen database #4037	2005 February 27
b. 40, f. 14	"Patient's-Eye View: A Photojournalist Covers His Own Surgery." New York Times Sunday Magazine, page 54. With photographs and captions by Art Shay, in section called "Lives," open to unsolicited manuscripts. This might be the last page except for inside cover, usually given over to essays by outsiders. Compare to Life, October 12, 1959, page 28-35: "Through the eyes of the patient" by McCombe. Hansen database #4171	2005 July 31
b. 41, f. 18	"When a Doctor Is More, and Less, Than a Healer" New York Times, pages D1-D8. Four clippings of Abigail Zuger's review of "Picturing Medical Progress," in Science Times section, illustration of Walter Reed in black and white. Copy delivered in Binghamton, NY, (#4437) has the image in color. Hansen database #4492	2009 August 25
b. 32, f. 5	"A Hospital at Night." On Call, cover of complete issue. "A Community-Wide Newspaper, Issued by South Nassau Communities Hospital." 24 pages on newsprint. An informal local publication, not kept by libraries, but useful for recording contemporary images of doctors and nurses at work. Cover photograph shows doctor and nurses putting a case on a boy's arm for a shoulder fracture. More photographs on the center fold, mostly of nurses. All photographs are black and white. Hansen database #3910	1964 March
b. 32, f. 6	"Stamp out Typhoid!" Pictorial Review, page 33. Full-page advertisement by Metropolitan Life Insurance Company depicts women and boys outdoors, possibly camping, drinking from a stream. Hansen database #68	1925 June
b. 41, f. 19	"Country Doctor." The Pittsburgh Press, Sunday ROTO Magazine, cover of complete issue. Photo essay as cover story. Compare to W. Eugene Smith story that ran in Life on September 20, 1948, just 3 months later. Subject is Edgar H. MacKinlay practicing in McConnellsburg and Fulton County. Photographs are by Steward Love. MacKinlay finished at Columbia Medical School about 15 years ago. Came here to fill in for the aged and ailing town physician John W. Mosser, before returning to NYC for a residency in EENT but instead stayed here for good. Hansen database #3810	1948 June 6

b. 32, f. 7	"Infantile Paralysis." Real Romances (6:7), page 14-15, 61-62, in complete issue. By Alan Hynd, under section title "Health Clinic." Important polio documentation in a woman's magazine with very early mention of a possible vaccine. Many kinds of information with several photographs of victims and helpers. One subtitle is "Is There a Polio Vaccine?" and it mentions March of Dimes researchers having produced polio antibodies in the blood of monkeys by injecting them with live virus. Also mentions Sister Kenny. Hansen database #3806	1948 August
b. 32, f. 8	"Strange Medical Facts." Strange Medical Facts (1:4), complete issue. Published bimonthly. Cover photo has a couple about to kiss. Despite the sensationalistic presentation, this is not fiction like that found in National Enquirer, but basically OK science. Among the articles of interest are Leeches (pages 20-21, 56); monkey gland work of Voronoff and Steinach (pages 26-27, 51-52); use of curare in dealing with paralysis from polio (pages 36-37, 58, 62); and pre-frontal lobotomy (pages 44-45, 70). This might be the same publication noted (in #4094) for some date in 1954 called True Strange Medical Facts. Hansen database #4191	1954 April
b. 32, f. 9	Diphtheria posters. Westvaco Inspirations for Printers (v. 62), page 1228. Full page depicts four prize winning posters designed by art students in 1930 contest. Winners were selected from submissions from eighty schools throughout New York State. This trade magazine was published in the 1930s. Main phrases include "Protect Me" "Toxin-Antitoxin A Life Saver," "Parents... Toxin antitoxin Prevents Diphtheria." Hansen database #3241	Circa 1931
b. 40, f. 15	"For us, he fought an endless battle with disease." Woman's Home Companion (56:4), page 52. Full page Squibb advertisement with watercolor of Hideyo Noguchi with Africans. Unpaginated sheet from Woman's Home Companion in 1929. Note: Copyright 1929 by E. R. Squibb is on the page. Hansen database #4316	1929 April
b. 32, f. 10	"Their Spirit Lives on." Woman's Home Companion, page 3. Full-page magazine advertisement for Listerine antiseptic honoring Pasteur, Lister, and Leeuwenhoek, with portraits floating in a cloud above a man with microscope and lab equipment. Text opens "Pasteur, reviewing the bacteria of disease, Lister making surgery antiseptic while great men jeered, Van Leeuwenhoek, peering through his crude lenses, the first to actually see germs-all were men of relentless curiosity, fierce enthusiasm and tireless application." Other names in a banner "their spirit lives on" are Behring, Jenner, Rollins, Metchnikoff, Roux, and Reed. Hansen database #4469	1935 February
b. 32, f. 11	"...A Fortune for Playthings." Woman's Home Companion, page 27. Full-page magazine advertisement for Listerine tooth paste. Shows a very rich woman with a yacht, jewelry, etc. who still uses the 25-cent tooth paste because of its results. Hansen database #4470	1935 February

b. 32, f. 13	"Pavlov (Ivan Petrovich Pavlov) 1849-1936." Unidentified medical journal. Wyeth advertisement with Pavlov image, number three in a series of Wyeth advertisements that uses biography and portraits of Pavlov, Roentgen, Sippy, and others. Might be earlier than 1970s as the artist Ernest Hamlin Baker (1889-1975) was very active in the 1930s and 1940s; he did hundreds of Time cover portraits. These portraits are exceptionally attractive work and more artistic than the historical illustrations done in some other advertisements. Hansen database #3126	Circa 1970-1979
b. 32, f. 14	"William Conrad Roentgen, 1845-1923." Unidentified medical journal. Number four in a series of Wyeth advertisements, biography and portraits of Pavlov, Roentgen, and Sippy. Might be earlier than 1970s as the artist Ernest Hamlin Baker (1889-1975) was very active in the 1930s and 1940s; he did hundreds of Time cover portraits. These portraits are exceptionally attractive work and more artistic than the historical illustrations done in some other advertisements. Hansen database #4461	Circa 1970-1979
b. 32, f. 15	"Bertram Welton Sippy, 1866-1924." Unidentified medical journal. Image in a series of Wyeth advertisements, biography and portraits of Pavlov, Roentgen, and Sippy. Might be earlier than 1970s as the artist Ernest Hamlin Baker (1889-1975) was very active in the 1930s and 1940s; he did hundreds of Time cover portraits. Series III: Ephemera, 1894–2008

This series contains items with medical themes or imagery produced by various agencies, corporations, and organizations. Items include medical history themed prints, publicity materials for Hollywood films about physicians, brochures for medical devices, health department signs, calendars, and posters.

Materials in this series are arranged by date and item title.

b. 41, f. 20	"Thomas A. Edison - The Wizard Of Menlo Park." Selmar Hess "Great Men and Famous Women" portfolio, part #50 of 68 parts. Image originally appeared as Frank Leslie's Illustrated Newspaper front cover January 10, 1891, (Hansen #933). Print is credited as "copyright by Frank Leslie's Weekly." A similar image appeared on the quack medicine booklet "Weak and Debilitated Men" (#3088). Hansen database #3091	1894
b. 41, f. 21	"Anti-diphtheritic serum instructions." Two sheets of instructions for preparing and administering injection of a Parke-Davis anti-diphtheritic serum, removed from a shipping box for the vial so they could be flattened out. Includes list of other Parke-Davis bacteriological products like anti-streptococic serum, anti-tetanic (lockjaw) serum, and anti-tubercic serum. Also tuberculin for detecting tuberculosis in cattle. Hansen database #4029	Circa 1899
b. 41, f. 22	New York Pharmacal Association calendar. Advertising calendar with images of Virchow, McDowell, Pasteur, Sims, Laennec, Malpighi, Harvey, Jenner, Loomis, Cross, Sydenhan, and Bright. Odd selection of heroes seems to result from matching them to their birth months. Portraits have birth and death dates, but no first names or note of achievement. "Compliments of Lactopeptine, New York Pharmacal Association, Yonkers." Hansen database #3147	1902–1903
b. 40, f. 20	"Grotus Maris: A Boon for Men." Advertising folder for "Grotus Maris (Strength of the Male)" apparatus to help impotent men keep an erection. "A Scientific Development for Your Men Patients." Designed by a physician who specialized in Genito-Urinary Diseases. Manufactured by Illinois Surgical Supply Co. 10 South Wells Street, Chicago, IL. Lots of advertisement copy and information on cause of impotency. Large illustration of the rubber device. Don't know if this was a legitimate or a quack medical device. Says it was sold only to doctors and pharmacists. 3 1/8 x 5 1/2" folded, opens to a 6 1/4 x 11" sheet. When folded, this is the same size and style as the street guides that peddled information about venereal disease. Perhaps it was even an insert in such guides. Hansen database #3380	Circa 1910
b. 41, f. 23	"Health Campaign: For the Protection of Life and Health." Brochure by Met Life. Advice addresses flies, mosquitoes, milk, soap, nourishment, and tuberculosis. A four-fold pocket size booklet with cartoon-like drawings. Includes image of knight fighting the dragon of tuberculosis. Two-color printing, only yellow and black. Size when folded is 3.5 x 5.5 inches. Hansen database #3146	Circa 1920-1929

b. 40, f. 21	"Cholene." Advertising brochure. Pasteur's Stop-a-Pain Tablets are one item included on this small tri-fold brochure from the Myers Chemical Company in Leon, Iowa. Main product here is Cholene, a "jelly or ointment" in "collapsible tubes" that destroys your invisible enemies, stops pain and inflammation, fights Catarrh, a cold in the head, croup, piles and other great stuff! The back page has an advertisement for Pasteur's Stop-A-Pain Tablets and Myers' Anti-Constipation Tablets. When folded, the size is 3 x 6 inches. Printed in black ink on cheap paper. Hansen database #3406	Circa 1920
b. 41, f. 24	"Feel Like a Million." Sheet music promoting Nature's Remedy Tablets, words and music by Will Waldron. Cover image is man singing "It's in the Air" into a radio microphone. Behind him there are bags of money and there are stacks of coins and bills on the table holding the microphone. Product is a "natural laxative." Hansen database #3140	1928
b. 41, f. 25	"Chelsea Hospital, London -- 1810." #5 in a set of 6 hospital prints produced by Petrolagar Medicine Laboratories as an advertising premium. Each print has a label with the title and "reproduced from the original Aquatints drawn and engraved by Rowlandson & Pugin." Labels are gummed and meant to be applied to the back of the print after they were framed. "Courtesy Petrolagar Laboratories, Inc., Chicago" is printed in the lower right-hand corner of each print. These are definitely well-done reproductions of the original early 1800s prints. Hansen database #4491	Circa 1930-1949
b. 41, f. 26	"College of Physicians, London -- 1808." #4 in a set of 6 hospital prints produced by Petrolagar Medicine Laboratories as an advertising premium. Each print has a label with the title and "reproduced from the original Aquatints drawn and engraved by Rowlandson & Pugin." Labels are gummed and meant to be applied to the back of the print after they were framed. "Courtesy Petrolagar Laboratories, Inc., Chicago" is printed in the lower right-hand corner of each print. These are definitely well-done reproductions of the original early 1800s prints. Hansen database #4490	Circa 1930-1949
b. 41, f. 27	"Middlesex Hospital, London 1808." #1 in a set of 6 hospital prints produced by Petrolagar Medicine Laboratories as an advertising premium. Each print has a label with the title and "reproduced from the original Aquatints drawn and engraved by Rowlandson & Pugin." Labels are gummed and meant to be applied to the back of the print after they were framed. "Courtesy Petrolagar Laboratories, Inc., Chicago" is printed in the lower right-hand corner of each print. These are definitely well-done reproductions of the original early 1800s prints. Hansen database #1370	Circa 1930-1949

b. 41, f. 5	"Your Doctor and You." Booklet by Parke, Davis & Company, 11" x 14," 16 pages. "Recent advertisements in a series which has been appearing in leading magazines since 1928." Each page depicts one advertisement. Topics include appendicitis, cancer, heart disease, and others. Many of the narratives in these pages are about parental mistakes to be avoided by seeing one's physician. The audience for this expensive book is not clear, may have been physicians (series emphasized seeing and trusting your doctor), management, or others with corporate interests. Hansen database #3513	1934
b. 40, f. 22	"The Story of Louis Pasteur." Movie herald. Visually striking, two-color printing on both sides, roughly 9 x 11.5 inches. One side is portrait style movie poster, with a more than usual sensationalized text. Other side is half in Spanish. Provenance unknown, but the margin includes "Continental Litho Corp Cleveland Ohio Made in U.S.A." According to an internet source, "Movie Heralds were placed in pressbooks (a booklet introducing the movie to the press, magazines, newspapers, etc.), and they used images similar and at times different from the movie posters or lobby cards." Hansen database #4438	Circa 1935-1936
b. 42, f. 6	"Paul Muni in 'The Story of Louis Pasteur'." Original glossy advertisement slick for 1936 Warner Bros. film "The Story Of Louis Pasteur" starring Paul Muni, Josephine Hutchinson, Donald Woods, and Anita Louise. Advertising slicks provide graphical material for film advertisements in various sizes and layouts so that a local paper can use these images and titles with local times, dates, and theater name added in the white space. Hansen database #3828	Circa 1936

b. 42, f. 7	"The Birth of a Baby: Before Your Very Eyes." Six color lobby cards for the movie, "Presented by the American Committee for Maternal Welfare, Inc." 11 x 14, a little garish in appearance because of strength of the yellow color (did other colors fade more to create this effect or did the cards originally look like this?). Compare to Life's story in 1938. Hansen database #3843	1937
b. 40, f. 23	Louis Pasteur's Will Facsimile of Louis Pasteur's handwritten Last will and Testament March 29, 1877; copyrighted 1939 by Vichy Celestins mineral water company; possibly linked to the New York City World's Fair. The document is in French with English translation: "This is my last testament. I leave to my wife, everything the law allows me to leave her. May my children never stray from the path of righteousness, and keep forever for their mother the tenderness she deserves. L. Pasteur." Hansen database #4360	1939
b. 40, f. 24	"Search and Research, A Pictorial Portfolio of Scenes and Characters in the Drama of Medicine and Medical Progress." Spiral bound art portfolio from Abbott Laboratories. 15" x 12", with eight photographs (14" x 11") by Sarra and four drawings (10.5" x 7") by Pierre Brissaud. Hansen database #4177	1939

b. 40, f. 25	"Cibalgine, 'Ciba'" Tri-fold promotional brochure for Cibalgine, an "antiseptic, antipyretic, sedative," from Ciba Pharmaceutical Products, Inc. Cover shows a watercolor painting of St. Vincent's Hospital in Erie, Pennsylvania, a three-story brick building with frame porch and mansard roof, text describes the opening in 1875 and notes that this is "From a Series of Interesting Events in Medical History." Hansen database #4484	Circa 1940-1949
b. 42, f. 9	"Eulogy of the Doctor." Hayley M-O Company gift print of work by Robert Louis Stevenson. Designed to imitate a Renaissance book's illuminated page with border, rubrics, etc., but image at bottom right is of a microscope, and image at bottom center is of an office with a telephone on the desk. Text begins "There are men and classes of men that stand above the common herd.... rarer still the clergyman, the physician almost as a rule. He is the flower of our civilization" Much about manners and good cheer and keeping secrets, but nothing on science or progress in his eulogy. "Compliments of The Haley M-O Company, Inc." printed in modern type at the bottom. The company was a producer of mineral oil. Hansen database #4478	Circa 1940-1949
b. 42, f. 10	"The Wheel O' Life." "Correct eating health chart" volvelle by Dr. Adolphus Hohensee, "author, lecturer, food authority." Device is printed in red and black on heavy card stock and consists of two circular paper boards fastened in the center so they rotate independently. Central area of top wheel is divided into segments, similar to a lottery wheel, that contain descriptions of minerals and vitamins, outer edge of back wheel shows names of various foods. As the bottom wheels are rotated small holes in the top wheel display the amount of vitamins, minerals, and calories for each food. Minerals include sodium, potassium, magnesium, iron, chlorine, phosphorus, calcium, sulphur, silicon, fluorine, iodine, and manganese. Hansen database #3141	1941

f. oversize 83	"The History of Anesthesia Study Chart No. 1: Pain...A Heritage and a Challenge." Promotional poster for the film "The Great Moment" directed by Preston Sturgis, starring Joel McCrae and Betty Field, about W. b. 42, f. 11	"The Seven Ages of a Physician." Large format gift book (12 x 15 inch) from CIBA Pharmaceutical portfolio with plastic ring binding. Paintings are by James Chapin, they might also have been used in advertising. Titles: (1) The Doctor's Son (mother with baby), (2) The Dying Hare-A Boys Dedication to Healing (hunting), (3) Medical Education-The Bedside Lecture, (4) The Doctor (holding newborn, standing with boy on crutches, and old lady sitting down), (5) The Doctor In War (receiving hypo from a nurse to inject a dirty-faced wounded soldier, with crowd of wounded standing like a chorus behind), (6) Research Heroic-The Self Inoculation (glassware in his lab is glittering and glowing, it's almost psychedelic), and (6) Doctor's Heritage (old doc and young one holding test-tube with book, globe, and skull on the desk). Final onion-skin page at the end has two "Suggestions for framing." Hansen database #1649	1945

b. 42, f. 12	Armour Laboratories physicians of color portfolio. Set of eleven prints in a gift portfolio for physicians of color by Armour Laboratories. Paintings by F. Netter, M.D., very famous as a medical illustrator showing body parts, endocrine system, etc. Scenes of people in medical settings like these are not well known as part of his work. Portfolio is captioned: "Compliments of Armour Laboratories." Titles: ambulance call, anatomy lab, catastrophe, class reunion, clinic, country night call, emergency ward, gyn examining room, osteology cram, pediatric ward-convalescent, and reconversion. Includes part of original mailing envelope postmarked May 20, 1948, in Chicago; sent to doctor in Ohio. Armour Laboratories products included sutures and chemical preparations. It's possible that this work is just prior to Netter's long association with Ciba. One print of set is missing. Hansen database #3524	Circa 1945-1948
b. 42, f. 13	"Know your Doctor." Publication by the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company with thirteen glossy full-color pictures suitable for framing. Hard cover with plastic spiral binding, 15.5" x 12.75." Artwork is from a series of medical history themed advertisements in national magazines for Camel cigarettes. Accompanying letter states that the book was put together and sent to doctors because of the mounting requests for frameable copies of the advertisements. Two pictures employ medical history images: "Lady with a Lamp" is a female doctor with head reflector with text mentioning Nightingale, Blackwell, Jacobi, Jane Viola Meyers, and Anna Broomall; and "Big Game Hunters" shows two doctors working with a microscope in a jungle hut. Series IV: Reference copies, 1850–2007

This series contains photocopies of primary sources and microfilm created by Bert Hansen while conducting research on the depiction of medicine and public health in popular graphic art. The bulk of the photocopies depict material not included in the collection and which is not readily available online.

Contents of the series were removed from binders and rehoused in archival folders for preservation. Copies are arranged according to Hansen's original order, with dates reflecting dates of original materials
