Processing Information

Collections are processed to a variety of levels, depending on the work necessary to make them usable, their perceived research value, the availability of staff, competing priorities, and whether or not further accruals are expected. The library attempts to provide a basic level of preservation and access for all collections, and does more extensive processing of higher priority collections as time and resources permit.

These materials have been arranged and described according to national and local standards. For more information, please refer to the Beinecke Manuscript Unit Processing Manual.

Biographical / Historical

Martin H. M. Schreiber (1946-) of Prague, Czechoslovakia, immigrated to the United States in 1952. In 1965, Schreiber joined the United States Army; he took up photography full time following his discharge in 1968. He has photographed for international magazines and newspapers, has exhibited in solo and group shows, and his work has been featured in published books. He also taught for a period of time at the School of Visual Arts and The New School.

In 1981, Schreiber began an 18-month journey through Texas, Oklahoma, and New Mexico. He visited multiple ranches, riding and camping out with cowboys while on cattle drives. Photographs documenting this Western cowboy culture were published in Last of a breed: portraits of working cowboys (Austin, Texas: Texas Monthly Press, 1982), a work financed by multiple ranch owners.

Scope and Contents

Photographic prints, slides, negatives, contact sheets, and posters by Martin H. Schreiber of cowboys in the American West, 1980-1998. Materials relate primarily to Schreiber's Last of a breed and depict cowboys and ranches in Texas, Oklahoma, and New Mexico.

Also included are posters and the typescript questionnaire Schreiber sent to those he met, photographed, or worked with on the "Cowboy Project" along with 20 manuscript responses.

Arrangement

Organized into five series: I. Photographs, circa 1980-1987. II. Posters, 1982. III. Negatives and Contact Sheets, 1981 and undated. IV. Slides, 1997-1998. V. Questionnaire and Responses, 1982.
