Processing Information

Collections are processed to a variety of levels, depending on the work necessary to make them usable, their perceived research value, the availability of staff, competing priorities, and whether or not further accruals are expected. The library attempts to provide a basic level of preservation and access for all collections as they are acquired, and does more extensive processing of higher priority collections as time and resources permit.

This collection received a basic level of processing, including rehousing and minimal organization.

Information included in the Description of Papers note and Collection Contents section is drawn from information supplied with the collection and from an initial survey of the contents. Folder titles appearing in the contents list below are often based on those provided by the creator or previous custodian. Titles have not been verified against the contents of the folders in all cases. Otherwise, folder titles are supplied by staff during initial processing.

This finding aid may be updated periodically to account for new acquisitions to the collection or revisions in arrangement and description.

Restau Press

Restau Press was a short-lived literary press operated by J. Mark Nunnelee in the late 1960s and early 1970s. The press published a single issue of Restau: A Journal of Passage in 1970, as well as a pamphlet by Stephen Jonas and poetry broadsides by Jonas, Gerrit Lansing, John Wieners, and Larry Eigner.

J. Mark Nunnelee

J. Mark (Joe Mark) Nunnelee (1943-2001) was a publisher and poet who operated Restau Press in the late 1960s and early 1970s. Following service in the Vietnam War, Nunnelee pursued a brief career as a bookseller and publisher. Through the Restau Press imprint, Nunnelee published work by a variety of poets centered around the eastern Massachusetts literary scene, including his own. After returning to school in 1973 Nunnelee left literary publishing, eventually pursuing a career in corporate performance management.
