Biographical / Historical

Gary C. Burget, M.D. (1941-2017) was a plastic surgeon specializing in facial and nasal reconstruction. Born in Toledo, Ohio in 1941, Dr. Burget attended Yale University earning his undergraduate degree in English and went on to attend Yale School of Medicine, graduating in 1967. He obtained his medical license in 1968 and continued his education with an internship at Columbia University College of Physicians and Surgeons (1969), a residency at Jackson Memorial Hospital in Miami (1972), and a plastic surgery fellowship with Dr. Ralph Millard in Miami (1974). He entered private practice first in Miami, Florida and then in Chicago, Illinois.

In the 1980s Burget spent time traveling and volunteering at hospitals in Southeast Asia, Korea, and South America consulting on plastic surgery cases, most frequently in Thailand and in South Korea. As a pioneer in the forehead flap surgical technique for nasal reconstruction, Dr. Burget spoke at surgical teaching conferences and was a guest lecturer at universities and hospitals in the United States and abroad throughout his career.

In addition to his medical practice and teaching, Burget wrote about pioneering techniques within the field of plastic surgery. Burget's publications include: Aesthetic Reconstruction of the Nose published in the 1994, co-authored with Dr. Fredrick Menick, and Aesthetic Reconstruction of the Child's Nose, published in 2005. He published many other articles regarding new techniques in the surgical world, with specific focus on facial surgery.

Dr. Burget engaged in the community of medicine, maintaining membership in many professional organizations including, but not limited to, The American Society for Aesthetic Plastic Surgery, Chicago Society of Plastic Surgery, and The Rhinoplasty Society. In 1990 and 2008 he won the James Barrett-Brown Award for the best plastic surgery paper published during the previous calendar year. In 2006, Dr. Burget was named by the American Association of Plastic Surgeons as its "Clinician of the Year."

After practicing in Chicago for more than 30 years, he retired from practice in October 2016. Gary C. Burget died on May 31, 2017, in Chicago, Illinois.

Content Description

The papers contain records that document Dr. Gary C. Burget's (1941-2017) plastic surgery education, plastic surgery career and medical practice, teaching, conference activity, as well as a small part of his personal correspondence and travels from 1962 - 2017. The collection includes correspondence, manuscripts, publications, patient records, photographs, slides, and video tapes. Correspondence includes letters from Dr. Robert W. Berliner (1915-2002) and Dr. Frederick J. Menick regarding Burget's teaching, conference activities, and publications. Certificates and awards won throughout his career are included in the collection and include society awards, such as the Fellow award from the American College of Surgeons, and various other medical and personal societies to which he belonged. Records relating to his surgical education include certificates and diplomas from his various residencies including the Harlem Hospital Center in New York City, New York and the Jackson Memorial Hospital in Miami, Florida. Records relating to his surgical career are the majority of the collection and consist of surgical patient records: patient charts, 35mm slides, photographs, x-rays, negatives, and consults created in Miami and Chicago. 35mm slides and photographs are present throughout the collection, documenting patients' pre-, intra-, and post- operative conditions and surgical procedures. Photographs, slides, x-rays, and negatives within patient charts were kept in context and 35mm slides, photographs, and negatives maintained in separate files by Burget may be found in multiple sub-series. Dr. Burget specialized in facial surgery and nasal reconstructive surgery, but patient records may include treatment, surgeries, and consultations about a range of plastic surgery areas. The illustrations and artwork created in the scope of his practice, teaching, and in publishing his books include works by Todd Buck and other artists. The illustrations and artwork include oversized material, illustrations, pencil on paper, paint on paper, ink on paper, negatives, and hand sketches. Materials documenting Burget's teaching and conference activity throughout the United States and around the world as well as his international volunteerism work in Southeast Asia, Korea, and South America include manuscripts, personal and professional correspondence, illustrations, photographs, notes, and slides.

V: Patient records, 1963 - 2017

English; Spanish; Castilian

The series includes paper charts, photographs, 35mm slides, negatives, x-rays, digital objects, and some audiovisual material concerning Burget's medical practice from 1963 to 2017. The majority of the series consists of patient charts. There are two types of charts; older charts which consist of a folder with all information in date order and newer style charts, which separate notes, insurance information, and test results into different sections of the file folder. Most charts include photographs and slides and a small number contain x-rays. Consultation records range from one page of inquiries to charts containing patient information, email correspondence, and photographs. There are also slides, loose photographs, and negatives within the series.

Patient Records and materials containing patient medical information are restricted. Contact the Medical Historical Library to request access.

The arrangement of the series reflects Burget's filing order. Patient charts, photographs, and negatives are arranged in alphabetic order with subseries for reconstructive cases, facial reconstructive cases, ear reconstructive cases, patient consults, and negatives. Audiovisual materials have been arranged in a separate subseries. Records for a single patient may exist in multiple subseries.

Patient names in this finding aid have been replaced with alphanumeric codes to protect privacy. The code for each subseries begins with a letter indicating first letter of last name, followed by two letters indicating format, then a four digit number starting with 0001.

[Alphabetical Letter]ch# - Charts [Alphabetical Letter]sl# - Slides [Alphabetical Letter]ph# - Photographs [Alphabetical Letter]co# - Consults [Alphabetical Letter]rc# - Reconstructive Cases [Alphabetical Letter]fr# - Facial Reconstruction [Alphabetical Letter]er# - Ear Reconstruction

Similar numbers in different subseries do not represent the same patient names. For example: Patient charts Ach0001 and Patient slides Asl0001 are not necessarily the same patient. A spreadsheet linking the alphanumeric codes to patient names is held by the repository.

Patient files
English; Spanish; Castilian

1963-2017

This series consists of records of Burget's patients throughout his career including patient charts, photographic prints, photographic slides, negatives, and x-rays. Patient photographs include loose photographs originally in white paper envelopes stored separately from the patient charts. Some photographs were accompanied by handwritten notes and personal photographs of the patients. Some photographs correlate to patient charts but many do not.

Patient files and materials containing patient medical information are restricted. Contact the Medical Historical Library to request access.

Patient's names have been replaced with alphanumeric codes to protect patient health information.

The patient files are arranged alphabetically by last name, first name across every physical type of material.

Patient photographs

1963 – 2016

Includes photographs originally stored in white paper envelopes separate from the patient charts. Some photographs were accompanied by handwritten notes and personal photographs of the patients. Some, but not all photographs in this subseries correspond with patient charts.

Patient records and materials containing patient medical information are restricted. Contact the Medical Historical Library to request access.

Patient's names have been replaced with a three letter code and a number to protect patient health information.

	Patient slides	1969–2015
	Includes photographic slides stored separately from other patient records arranged alphabetically by last name. The slides include pre-, post-, and inter-operative images of Burget's patients.
	Patient records and materials containing patient medical information are restricted. Contact the Medical Historical Library to request access.
	Patient's names have been replaced with a three letter code and a number to protect patient health information.

	Reconstructive cases English Includes 35 mm photographic slides of pre-, inter-, and post-operative images of reconstructive surgery cases. Burget stored these slides separately from other patient records. Patient files and materials containing patient medical information are restricted. Contact the Medical Historical Library to request access. Patient names have been replaced with a three letter code and a number to protect patient health information. Materials are arranged alphabetically by patient's last name, first name.	1976-2000
