CALL NUMBER: MS 1712

CREATOR: Galston, Arthur W. (Arthur William), 1920-2008

TITLE: Arthur William Galston papers

DATES: 1938-2007

PHYSICAL DESCRIPTION: 25.75 linear feet (28 boxes)

PHYSICAL DESCRIPTION: 30.08 linear feet (30 boxes)

LANGUAGE: The materials are in English, with some Vietnamese.

SUMMARY: The papers include correspondence, course materials, writings, and photographs documenting Arthur William Galston's career as a plant physiologist and a professor at Yale University. The papers highlight Galston's concern over the ecological harm done by herbicides and his efforts to end the use of Agent Orange, which was sprayed as a defoliant in Vietnam by the United States military. The papers also document Galston's visit to the People's Republic of China in 1971.

Preferred Citation

Arthur William Galston Papers (MS 1712). Manuscripts and Archives, Yale University Library.

Biographical / Historical

Arthur William Galston was born on April 21, 1920. He received a Ph.D. from the University of Illinois in 1943 and joined the Yale University faculty as an instructor in botany in 1946. From 1951 to 1955 Galston was an associate professor of biology at California Institute of Technology, following which he returned to Yale. He served as chairman of the botany department (1961-1962), director of the division of biological sciences (1965-1966), and chairman of the biology department (1985-1988). In 1971 Galston became the first American scientist to visit the People's Republic of China. He was named professor emeritus in 1990. Arthur Galston died on June 15, 2008, in Hamden, Connecticut.

Scope and Contents

The papers include correspondence, course materials, writings, and photographs documenting Arthur William Galston's career as a plant physiologist and a professor at Yale University. The papers highlight Galston's concern over the ecological harm done by herbicides and his efforts to end the use of Agent Orange, which was sprayed as a defoliant in Vietnam by the United States military. Accession 2009-M-022: Additional Material, 1933-2007

This accession contains correspondence, presentations, files related to various aspects of Galston's service and teaching at Yale, and topical and research files. Unless otherwise noted, descriptions in the inventory are of single folders.

Access to this entire accession is closed until January 1, 2042, because of the presence of restricted Yale materials throughout. Beyond the Yale restriction, a review of the materials in this accession for student records, which are scattered throughout the accession and require additional restriction, must occur before this accession can be opened for research.
