Biographical / Historical

Anson Conger Goodyear, the son of Charles W. Goodyear, was born in Buffalo, N.Y., June 20, 1877, where his father is engaged in the Lumber and Railroad Business. His mother's name is Ella P. (Conger) Goodyear. Anson was equipped with preparatory knowledge at the Nichols School, Buffalo, N.Y.

After graduation, Anson became connected with the Buffalo and Susquehanna Railroad Company, of which he is now Vice-President. He is Second Vice-President of the Great Southern Lumber Company, and Managing Director of the Goodyear Lumber Company, of which his father is Vice-President.

On June 29, 1904, in the City of Buffalo, N.Y., Anson was married to Miss Mary Forman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George V. Forman, of Buffalo, N.Y. They have one child, a son, born in Buffalo, N.Y., July 8, 1906, and named George Forman Goodyear.

Scope and Contents

This collection of Civil War materials, compiled by Anson C. Goodyear and given to Yale University in 1953, contains correspondence, diaries, proclamations, and other papers relating chiefly to the Civil War but also including letters from the Jacksonian period. The papers are mounted in a series of bound volumes devoted to various subjects. The folder list that follows provides descriptions of the individual items in the order in which they appear in the volumes; an alphabetical index to the items is appended to this register.

The first half of the collection pertains to the siege of Fort Sumter. Included are two diaries kept by General S. Wylie Crawford, surgeon at the Fort. There are also three volumes containing letters and other papers of Abraham Lincoln, Major Robert Anderson, General P.G.T. Beauregard, Gideon Welles, Salmon P. Chase, William Lloyd Garrison, and others.

The second half of the collection covers several topics. Abraham Lincoln's political associates and opinions of Lincoln expressed by Northern and Southern political figures form the subject matter of two volumes. Included are items by Horace Greeley, Mary Todd Lincoln, General Edward S. Bragg, James Garfield, and others. A volume devoted to the relations of Jefferson Davis and General Beauregard follows, containing letters by and about both men, while a further volume contains letters by and about General W.T. Sherman. In these three volumes are letters of Generals Jubal Early, Joseph E. Johnston, Braxton Bragg, and other military figures. The final volume concerns the controversy between Andrew Jackson and John Randolph, and contains items by both men, as well as by Francis Scott Key, Henry Clay, Martin Van Buren, Winfield Scott, and others.

General Beauregard

b. 2, f. 8 A.L.S., 3pp. 4to, September 15, 1881, to General Early, replying to the preceding letter.
Saying that a further discussion of Davis' book would be useless, as his own views and Early's are so widely divergent. This is a draft of the letter to Early kept by Beauregard.

b. 2, f. 8 A.L., written in pencil, 6pp., folio, September, 1881, to General Early.
Referencing discussion of his letter criticizing Davis' Rise and Fall of the Confederacy.

b. 2, f. 8 Joseph E. Johnston, A.L.S., 4pp. 8vo. March 21, 1874, to General Beauregard.
Containing reference to General Lee and the contemplated removal of General Johnston from command.

General Thomas Jordan

b. 2, f. 8 A.L.S., 2pp. 4to, February 6, 1869, to General Beauregard.
Criticizing Davis' "wicked policies," suggesting that Johnston and General Beauregard should join to expose these policies.

b. 2, f. 8 A.L.S., 9pp. 8vo, with a second A.L.S. of General Jordan, 9pp. 8vo.
The two letters are dated March 1 and March 17, 1871. They both refer to Alfred's Life of General Davis, which he states to be "full of historical errors and teeming with lies."

b. 2, f. 8 General W.S. Walker, A.L.S., 3pp. 4to, June 27, 1881, to General Beauregard.
Referring to Davis' Rise and Fall of the Confederacy and his unjust prejudice against Beauregard.

b. 2, f. 8 General M.J. Wright, A.L.S. 1p. 4to, June 24, 1881, to General Beauregard.
Concurring in Beauregard's estimate of Davis' book. Saying that it is full of errors and omissions.

Augustas J. Evans

b. 2, f. 8 A.L.S., 6pp. 4to, January 14, 1863. To General Beauregard Regretting that Davis discarded Beauregard's plan of campaign. Speaks of insubordination in the army and Lincoln's "infamous proclamation." With pencil note on a small slip of paper signed with initials.

b. 2, f. 8 A.L.S., 8pp. 8vo, January 30, 1864.
Denouncing Davis and the government at Richmond and attacking Lincoln.

b. 2, f. 8 General Jubal Early, A.L.S., 4pp. 4to, July 11, 1873, to General Beauregard.
Giving his views of the unification movement in Louisiana, which he argues against.

GENERAL W.T. SHERMAN AND HIS CRITICS

ALL bound in full levant

b. 2, f. 9	General Braxton Bragg, A.L.S., 4pp., 4to, February 9, 1866. To General Beauregard Giving at length his reminiscences of General Sherman and conversations with him in New Orleans just before the war. General Jubal A. Early
b. 2, f. 9	A.L.S., 4pp. 8vo., March 7, 1876, to General Beauregard. A caustic criticism of General Sherman's book, just published.
b. 2, f. 9	A.L.S., 4pp. 8vo., March 17, 1876, to General Beauregard. Further criticizing Sherman's memoirs.
b. 2, f. 9	General Thomas Jordan, A.M. Beauregard's Chief of Staff, 12pp. 4to. Rough draft of General Jordan's review of Sherman's memoirs, addressed to the editor of the New York Herald.
	ANDREW JACKSON AND JOHN RANDOLPH Bound together in half morocco.
b. 2, f. 10	Mrs. Martha Randolph, A.L.S., 4pp. 4to, Monticello, May 13, 1815. Mrs. Randolph was Thomas Jefferson's daughter. The Letter refers to John Randolph's accusations against the wife of Gouverneur Morris. He accuses Mrs. Morris of murder, licentiousness, and of being the mother of an illegitimate child.
b. 2	John Randolph, A.L.S., March 15, 1817, 4pp. 4to. Containing some interesting autobiographical information.
b. 2, f. 10	Francis Scott Key, A.L.S., 2pp. 4to, May 6, 1833. With Henry Ashton, A.L.S., 3pp. 4to, May 6, 1833; Henry Ashton, A.L.S., 2pp. 4to, May 13, 1833; all to Hon. A.B. Taney, Attorney General. With A.L. in third person from Taney to the President, May 16, 1833. These letters are in reference to insult offered to President Jackson by Lieutenant Randolph, who tweaked the President's nose. The letters contain a full account of what happened on this occasion and the attempts to arrest Randolph. The incident is referred to on pp. 715-716 and 728 in Bassett's Life of Andrew Jackson.
b. 2, f. 10	Andrew Jackson, A.L.S., 2pp. 4to, 1807 ca. January 13, n.d. Demanding an apology for a statement that Jackson was engaged in the treason of Colonel Burr. The letter is addressed to James Sanders and is apparently the first draft.
b. 2, f. 10	Rachael Jackson, A.L.S., 3pp. 4to, Hermitage, July 18, 182-. An interesting letter by the wife of the president; the spelling is remarkable. It refers to the attacks made upon her on account of the irregularity of her marriage to Jackson.
	Henry Clay

b. 2, f. 10	A.L.S. 1p. 4to, August 4, 1827. Referring to the possibility of Clay's being challenged to a duel by Jackson and saying that he will be "prepared for any and every honorable event." With addressed envelope.
b. 2, f. 10	A.L., in the third person, 1p. 4to, June 9, 1834. Stating that he has never "had of any Jackson functionary the slightest favor."
b. 2, f. 10	William Reed, A.L.S., 4pp. 4to, January 13, 1815. Referring to the Battle of New Orleans, to John Randolph, etc.
b. 2, f. 10	W.B. Lewis, A.L.S., Fairfield, November 7, 1845, 3pp. 8 vo., to John C. Calhoun. Suggesting that Calhoun should visit Jackson at the Hermitage.
b. 2, f. 10	Two letters in the hand of Winfield Scott. The first letter is a copy of a letter from him to Jackson, dated December 11, 1823. The second is a copy of Jackson's reply, bearing the same date. On the back of the first letter is a note in Scott's hand, explaining the incident that caused this correspondence. The note reads, "It has been long rumored, probably without foundation, but it was nevertheless believed by many, that General Jackson had threatened to assault or challenge me the first time we should happen to approach each other. Hence for six days I frequented the capitol and other public places where General Jackson was to be found in Washington and then addressed him this letter." The letter notified Jackson that Scott would remain in Washington for six days. In the reply Jackson says that if Scott wishes to approach him on friendly terms, he will be met with a corresponding feeling on Jackson's part.
b. 2, f. 10	Andrew Jackson, A.L.S., 2¼pp., folio, January 8, 1813. Written to his wife Rachael in a very flamboyant style. Referring to his country's call, the necessity of their separation, etc. [Folded and Cracking]
b. 2, f. 10	Martin Van Buren, A.L.S., 3pp. 4to. April 8, 1826. Re: duel between Clay and Randolph.
