CALL NUMBER: MS 915

CREATOR: Beebe, William Sully, 1841-1898

TITLE: William Sully Beebe papers

DATES: 1844-1898

PHYSICAL DESCRIPTION: 0.75 linear feet

LANGUAGE: English

SUMMARY: Largely writings on Biblical subjects and on the Indians of South and Central America to support William Sully Beebe's theory that "a great philosophical cult once occupied all the Americas, originating in Peru" and that there is a relationship between the phonetic values of their pictographs and those of the semitic languages. He also held that their legends resemble those of the Genesis cycle, which, Beebe believed, had their origin in America. Included in the papers are several letters on these subjects by Beebe to Josiah Willard Gibbs, William Dwight Whitney and Henry Clark Corgin. Also miscellaneous newspaper clippings, 1893-1894, on archaeology and biblical research.

Biographical / Historical

William Sully Beebe was born on February 14, 1841, in Ithica, N. Y. He attended West Point Academy, graduating in 1863. He immediately entered the army, with an appointment of Second Lieutenant of Ordnance. During the Civil War, he received honors on multiple occasions. He remained in the army until 1874, when he resigned his commission. After his resignation, he spent his time creating a theory that argued, in part, for a connection between the Biblical book of Genesis and the ancient peoples of the Americas. With the start of the Spanish-American War, Beebe reentered the army and died of yellow fever in Havana, Cuba, on October 12, 1898.

Scope and Contents

The William Sully Beebe Papers consist largely of undated writings by Beebe on Biblical exegesis and philology, South and Central American Indian mythology and languages, and related topics. There are, in addition, four letters written by Beebe, one of which encloses a manuscript; a selection of newspaper clippings about ancient history, anthropology, and American Indians completes the collection.

The manuscripts "Biblical and Hebrew Roots" and "General Vocabulary, Maya and English" were given to Yale University in 1915 by Frances Dorothy Beebe. The remaining papers appear to have been the gift of William Sully Beebe in 1895.
