Scope and Contents

These papers consist primarily of correspondence, printed matter, and memorabilia related to Howard Richards' missionary work at Boone College (an institution supported by the Protestant Episcopal Church) in Wuchang, China, his position as secretary to Yale-in-China, and his writings about China. The papers were originally arranged by Richards in chronological order within a loose-leaf scrapbook, and after removal from the binder they have been left in the original order. The letters come from a wide variety of religious, educational, and philanthropic organizations, and from individuals interested in missionary work and in China. There are also some copies of letters from Richards. The printed matter and memorabilia include pamphlets, annual reports of the Yale Mission College in Changsa, several religious tracts in Chinese, and similar materials.

Also in the collection is a folder of letters exchanged between Richards and Joseph B. Eastman of the Interstate Commerce Commission concerning transportation facilities through the Pottsville Gap in Pennsylvania from 1937, and one of correspondence and printed matter, including a pamphlet and several newspaper clippings, relating to the American Metric Association, of which Richards was secretary. A copy of Richards' obituary completes the collection.

The provenance of this collection is unknown.
