SUMMARY: Freedom to Marry (2003-2015) was an organization and campaign founded by Evan Wolfson in 2003, with the sole purpose of legalizing marriage for same-sex couples at both the state and federal level. The campaign formulated a three-part strategy to accomplish its goals: win marriage equality in more states, build support for marriage equality, and end federal discrimination. Freedom to Marry's campaign culminated in 2015 when the Supreme Court decided the landmark case, Obergefell v. Hodges, in favor of marriage equality for same-sex couples. The Freedom to Marry records include incorporation documents, meeting minutes, grant applications, promotional material, correspondence, office memos, legal cases, briefs, amici curiae, administrative files, research files, polling files, websites, and audiovisual materials created by, about, and for Freedom to Marry, a bipartisan campaign, to attain marriage equality for same-sex couples in the United States. The organization's records focus almost exclusively on this goal, and the few materials that do not are related to civil rights for the LGBTQ+ (Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual, Trans, Queer, plus) community. Materials are dated from 1948 to 2016 with the bulk falling between 2003 and 2015, the years that the campaign was active. Material dated prior to 2000 is related to the organization either as historical context or research, or pertains specifically to Evan Wolfson's (Freedom to Marry's founder and president) career prior to the establishment of Freedom to Marry.

Biographical / Historical

Freedom to Marry (2003-2015) was an organization and campaign founded by Evan Wolfson in 2003, with the sole purpose of legalizing marriage for same-sex couples at both the state and federal level. The campaign formulated a three-part strategy to accomplish its goals: win marriage equality in more states, build support for marriage equality, and end federal discrimination. Freedom to Marry's campaign culminated in 2015 when the Supreme Court decided the landmark case, Obergefell v. Hodges, in favor of marriage equality for same-sex couples.

The marriage equality movement gained a victory in 1993 when Evan Wolfson and Dan Foley argued for and won marriage equality in Hawaii before the Hawaii Supreme Court in the case Baehr v. Miike. Despite this victory, anti-marriage equality groups convinced Hawaii to pass a constitutional amendment forbidding same-sex marriage. This was the first of many DOMAs (Defense of Marriage Acts) and Super DOMAs, which defined marriage as a union between a man and a woman for the purposes of state and federal law. Recognizing that for marriage equality to become a reality an affirmative and strategic campaign would be needed, the Evelyn & Walter Haas Jr. Fund approached Wolfson in 2000. Together, Wolfson and the Haas Fund created Freedom to Marry as a sustained affirmative campaign designed to work towards the goal of marriage equality in the United States. The campaign designed a strategy to advocate for marriage equality at the state and federal level. The Evelyn & Walter Haas Jr. Fund seeded Freedom to Marry with a $2.5 million grant.

Freedom to Marry incorporated as a nonprofit in 2003, and was overseen by a board and steering committee with Wolfson acting as president. The structure of Freedom to Marry included departments focused on communications, development, research, political operations, and campaign programs. Freedom to Marry used a three-part strategy which included winning marriage equality in more states, building and growing majority support for marriage, and ending federal discrimination. This strategy, known as the Roadmap to Victory, argued that marriage equality did not need to win every state, but simply enough states to encourage the higher branches of the United States government to act. This strategy formed the foundation for their campaign, which included funding partner organizations through regranteeing programs, mounting legal challenges in the court, lobbying and political fundraising, and community organization. Freedom to Marry also had a targeted marketing strategy to extend their message to the general public and specific groups, including Spanish speakers, Republicans, veterans, and religious communities.

On June 26, 2015, the Supreme Court of the United States legalized same-sex marriage on a federal level by releasing its decision in Obergefell v. Hodges. On July 9, 2015, Freedom to Marry declared that the campaign was over and the organization was dissolved, as they'd achieved their goal of establishing marriage equality in the United States.

Information in this historical note was primarily drawn from the Freedom to Marry website, as well as from the annual reports found in the Program Files series.

Biographical / Historical

Evan Wolfson (1957-) is an attorney and gay rights activist who was the founder and president of Freedom to Marry. He received a B.A. in American History from Yale College (1978) and a J.D. from Harvard Law School (1983). He has worked as a district attorney, a civil rights attorney, and as president of Freedom to Marry. He has been a continuous advocate and activist of marriage equality and gay rights in the United States.

While at Harvard, Wolfson wrote his thesis, Same-sex Marriage and Morality: The Human Rights Vision of the Constitution, on marriage equality for same-sex couples. This work became the foundation for his career. After his graduation from Harvard Law School he briefly taught political philosophy at Harvard College before serving as assistant district attorney for Kings County, New York. He also worked as a pro bono cooperating attorney for Lambda Legal between 1984 to 1989.

Wolfson worked at Lambda Legal Defense and Education Fund and was the director of the Fund's Legal Marriage Project throughout the 1990s. During this time he served as co-counsel along with Dan Foley on Hawaii's landmark case for marriage equality, Baehr v. Miike. He became the first Lambda attorney to argue before the United States Supreme Court when he represented James Dale in Boy Scouts of America et. al. v. James Dale, a case which challenged the Boy Scouts for firing Scoutmaster James Dale due to his sexual orientation. In 2000, Wolfson left Lambda Legal to establish Freedom to Marry, where he focused on marriage equality. He served as president of Freedom to Marry from its inception in 2000 until its dissolution in 2015.

Wolfson wrote the book Why Marriage Matters: America, Equality, and Gay People's Right to Marry, published in 2004. He has also written many articles on marriage equality and gay rights. He won numerous awards in honor of his work to ensure marriage equality, including the MassMutual Vow to Protect award and the Barnard Medal of Distinction. He has been named Distinguished Visitor from Practice at Georgetown Law Center, Distinguished Practitioner in Grand Strategy at Yale University, and Senior Counsel at Dentons.

Information found in this biographical note has been drawn from the Freedom to Marry website.

Scope and Contents

The Freedom to Marry records include incorporation documents, meeting minutes, grant applications, promotional material, correspondence, office memos, legal cases, briefs, amici curiae, administrative files, research files, polling files, websites, and audiovisual materials created by, about, and for Freedom to Marry, a bipartisan campaign, to attain marriage equality for same-sex couples in the United States. The organization's records focus almost exclusively on this goal, and the few materials that do not are related to civil rights for the LGBTQ+ (Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual, Trans, Queer, plus) community. Materials are dated from 1948 to 2016 with the bulk falling between 2003 and 2015, the years that the campaign was active. Material dated prior to 2000 is related to the organization either as historical context or research, or pertains specifically to Evan Wolfson's (Freedom to Marry's founder and president) career prior to the establishment of Freedom to Marry.

Evan Wolfson's professional papers (Series I) document Wolfson's career prior to the foundation of Freedom to Marry and include material from Wolfson's time at Lambda Legal, including legal briefs relating to his casework. A bulk of these briefs relate to the case Boy Scouts of American and Monmouth Council, Boy Scouts of America v. James Dale. Wolfson's professional papers document his wide breadth of research for his cases and his leadership within the organizations Lambda Legal and Freedom to Marry. Wolfson's professional papers date from between approximately 1990-2009.

Administrative documents (Series II) detail the organization, activities, and history of Freedom to Marry. These, along with the annual reports, job descriptions and job search documents, the papers of Samiya Bashir, the communication director, and the papers of Thalia Zepatos, director of research and messaging, contain information on the day-to-day running of Freedom to Marry from its inception in 2003 to its culmination in 2015. Additionally, the website provides a significant understanding of the history, structure, and mission of Freedom to Marry.

These records also detail the marketing and financial strategies used by Freedom to Marry and their work with partner organizations. Financial records, such as regrating files and annual reports, demonstrate the partnerships between Freedom to Marry and other civil rights and equal marriage organizations, particularly the Human Rights Campaign, GLAD (GLBTQ Legal Advocates & Defenders), GLAAD (once known as Gay & Lesbian Alliance Against Defamation), Lambda Legal, and the ACLU (American Civil Liberties Union). There is also a significant collection of press clippings, research files, and published material tracking the victories and losses of the marriage equality movement across the United States.

Audiovisual materials (Series VII) consist primarily of television publicity that advocates for marriage equality, or programming produced for or about Freedom to Marry promoting the campaign. Recordings of community events and town halls debating marriage equality are also included.

The records are arranged in eight series: I. Evan Wolfson Files, 1948-2009. II. Administrative Records, 2005-2011. III. Development Files, 2003-2012. IV. Program Files, 1973-2016. V. Series IV: Program Files, 1973-2016

45.84 linear feet (113 boxes)

The Programs series covers programs that were run by, funded by, or partnered with Freedom to Marry. This includes schedules, pamphlets, communications, publications, partner organization files, and contains some regrating material that was not included in the Regrating series because it includes more information on the partner organizations. Evan Wolfson material that is included in this series is material about Wolfson, and not his professional papers.

The Program files also contain captures of Freedom to Marry's internet presence, which includes social media, the official Freedom to Marry website, and videos produced by Freedom to Marry. Not included are state-level sites for Freedom to Marry.

Program Files (Series IV) has three levels of access per the collection's deed of gift. Materials in boxes 54-92 are open to researchers. Materials in boxes 93-157 cannot be accessed without permission from the donor until 1 January 2035, and materials in boxes 158-160 cannot be accessed until 1 January 2035.

Additionally, boxes 82-92 and 131-157 are audiovisual materials. Original audiovisual materials, as well as preservation and duplicating masters, may not be played. Researchers must consult use copies, or if none exist must pay for a use copy, which is retained by the repository. Researchers wishing to obtain an additional copy of non-commercially produced items for their personal use should consult the ordering reproductions information on the Manuscripts and Archives web site.

The Programs series is organized in seven groupings: Subject files, Campaign files, Clippings, Polling files, Communication files, Partner organization files, Publications, and Internet and social media. This series is organized primarily chronologically, with the exception of the Clippings grouping and the Polling files grouping, which are organized chronologically.

Series VIII. 2018-m-0045-0001: Computer files, 2001-2016*1.1 Terabytes (1 external hard drive)*

The Freedom to Marry computer files document outreach, promotional, and strategic development initiatives employed by the organization's staff members. The file directory folders in this accession were arranged by Freedom to Marry staff members based on function within the larger organization.

Promotional materials include electronic versions of brochures, flyers, and posters featuring LGBTQ + couples and allies explaining why marriage equality matters. Other visual media include maps, fact sheets, and bulletins showing statistics about federal and state legislation related to same-sex marriage. Administrative files contain meeting minutes, agendas, drafts, and legal documents. Emails contain correspondence between Freedom to Marry and donors, supporters, and external public relations personnel.

In 2010, Freedom to Marry reinvented itself by transforming into a full-fledged, outward-facing campaign. As part of this reconfiguration strategy, Freedom to Marry hired Michael Crawford as Director of Digital Creative to build a team and shape a cutting-edge digital program aimed at activists in order to win marriage nationwide. His initiatives culminated in a completely redesigned website, more robust email and online fundraising programs, and an enhanced, highly visible social media presence. After the United States Supreme Court declared marriage inequality unconstitutional in 2015, Freedom to Marry ended its campaign, resulting in the creation of exit and close-out memoranda, thank-you mailers, and final status reports, all of which are included in this series.

Files in this series are all born digital and consist of varying formats, the bulk of which are Acrobat, Apple, HTML and XML, Microsoft Office, and WordPerfect files. Other file formats present include zip files, databases, executables, internet and chat files, multimedia, and presentations.

Per agreement with the donor, files in restricted folders are closed until 1 January 2035. Files in sensitive folders cannot be accessed without permission from the donor until 1 January 2035.

The materials are arranged in twelve groupings: I. Administrative team files; II. All staff files; III. Civil Marriage Collaborative and Freedom to Marry partnership; IV. Communications files; V. Development files; VI. Federal files; VII. Online presence; VIII. Public engagement; IX. "Win More States" campaign files; X. Final exit memoranda; XI. Staff personal non-dropbox files; XII. "Why Marriage Matters" campaign files. Thereunder, materials are organized by access level: public, sensitive, and restricted, as noted in the file directory folder title.

The original structure and arrangement of the files in this series have been maintained as received from the donor. No arrangement intervention was taken by Manuscripts and Archives staff.

"Win More States" campaign files

2011–2015

This file directory folder contains materials directly related to Freedom to Marry's "Roadmap to Victory" strategy, which aimed to gain support for the right to marry from as many states as possible so that the federal government was compelled to act. It contains materials aimed at specific cities with significant influence on an entire state's political opinion, such as Santa Fe, New Mexico, Portland, Oregon, and Fort Lauderdale, Florida. This folder also contains targeted media strategies, aimed at specific groups, including veterans, the press, religious groups, Republicans, mental health professionals, and academics. Additionally, materials aimed at "fence sitters" appealed to those who neither publicly supported nor opposed marriage equality. Freedom to Marry realized that these undecided groups held great supporter potential and designed campaign and marketing approaches to appeal to them directly.

The public subfolder under this file directory folder contains three staff folders, as well as chamber and business endorsement materials, talking points, resources, campaign tools, and team packet materials.
