Processing Information

This collection consists of materials formerly classed as Uncat Mss 489, Uncat Mss 741, and Uncat Mss 991. In 2001, the collection received a preliminary level of processing, including rehousing and minimal organization, based on lists created at or around the time of receipt by the Library. In 2007-2008, these lists were merged in a preliminary finding aid listing each acquisition by call number and acquisition month and year, with descriptive information drawn from information supplied with the collection and from an initial survey of contents. Some materials were moved to separate Pforzheimer collections of Marie Antoinette, French Historical Documents, and Frank Richard Stockton. Remaining materials, including additional French historical documents and Stockton items, were partially sorted into groupings of historical manuscripts, papers relating to Pforzheimer's intelligence career, and personal papers. Most box and folder titles were based on those provided by the creator; some were supplied by Library staff. Box and folder titles were not verified against contents.

In 2011 December, the collection was reclassified under one call number, boxes and other containers were renumbered in a single sequence, and some restricted fragile materials were identified. Preliminary organization by acquisition was maintained, with the addition of several items (boxes 166-167) not included in preliminary processing. Series titles were revised to reflect the overlap of contents between acquisitions and subseries. Box and folder titles and folder notes assigned during preliminary processing were maintained, with some errors corrected. Box and folder titles were not verified against contents.

Based on a survey of contents conducted in 2011 December, access to the collection was restricted, pending full processing.

Walter L. Pforzheimer (1914-2003)

Walter L. Pforzheimer, lawyer, intelligence officer, and book collector. Pforzheimer was born in Port Chester, New York, in 1914, and graduated from Yale College (1935) and Yale Law School (1938). Pforzheimer began his intelligence career in the United States Army, 1942-1945, in the Office of Strategic Services and as an Army Air Force intelligence officer. He was one of the founders of the Central Intelligence Agency in 1946, and as a CIA legislative counsel and liaison to Congress assisted in drafting the 1947 National Security Act. In 1956, he founded the CIA's Historical Intelligence Collection, which he curated until his retirement in 1974. In retirement, he continued to work for the CIA and taught at the Defense Intelligence College. Pforzheimer died in Washington, D.C., in 2003.

Pforzheimer came from a family of book collectors: his father, also named Walter Pforzheimer (1883-1955), collected French armorial bindings and assembled a virtually complete collection of Molière; his uncle Carl H. Pforzheimer (1879-1957) collected Percy Bysshe Shelley and his circle. Pforzheimer inherited and augmented his father's collections, and assembled his own collection of American novelist Frank Richard Stockton. In addition to curating the CIA's Historical Intelligence Collection, Pforzheimer built a personal collection of books and manuscripts documenting the history of military intelligence. Elected to the Yale Library Associates board of trustees in 1936, Pforzheimer was a life-long trustee and donor to the Yale Libraries. He donated his book and manuscript collections of Molière, French armorial bindings, Frank Richard Stockton, and military intelligence to the Beinecke Library in 2001.
